

The journal Nómadas. Revista Crítica de Ciencias Sociales y jurídicas, on-line publication by the Complutense University of Madrid, which nowadays turns into the official EMUI's magazine under the title Nomads. Mediterranean Perspectives, begins a second navigation all over the Mediterranean, with the purpose of considering the perspective of becoming a new project about the Mediterranean. This project replaces the previous one. Economic, legal, cultural, political and social topics will be worked out from an expansive and in-depth conception of the Mediterranean as a plurality of Civilizations, cultures, languages and symbolic universes. By doing so, these topics will be structured, not so much as an alternative to globalization –as some suggest–, but as a cosmopolitan and tolerant vision demanded by an open-minded society.

The EMUI was founded in collaboration with the Complutense University of Madrid, host to our Spain campus, and an EU University Consortium. Officially launched in Malta on October 16th 2007 under the aegis of the Spanish Embassy in Malta, the events were hosted at the Mediterranean Conference Centre. We were honored with high-profile attendees including members of the Maltese Parliament and Government, the European Commission and Parliament, diplomats and representatives of the Spanish Government.

Complutense University of Madrid
 European Academy of Yuste Foundation
 Anna Lindh Euro-Mediterranean Foundation
 European Union

NOMADS

Critical Review of Social and Juridical Sciences

Mediterranean Perspectives

01
2009/1

NOMADS

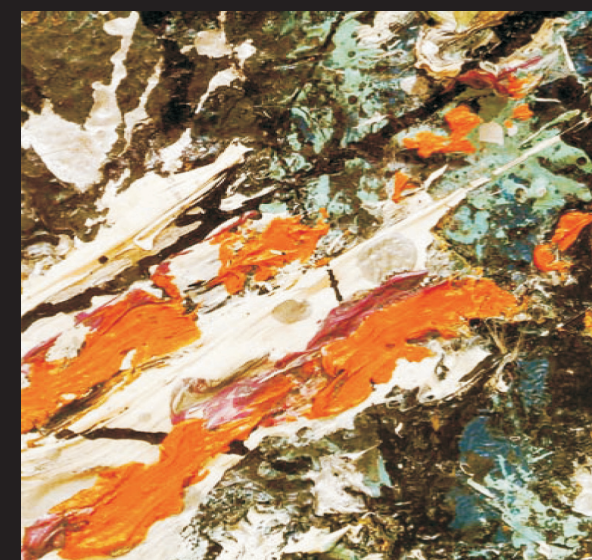

Critical Review of Social and Juridical Sciences

ISSN 1889-7231

Mediterranean Perspectives

Nr. 01 (2009/1)

Euro-Mediterranean University Institute (EMUI)
 Complutense University of Madrid & Consortium

